Among other things displayed were models of the Maine brooder or Colony house, Poultry house, Maine Station Laying house for 100 hens and a Maine Trap nest. There were also numerous pictures showing the University campus, farm buildings and hot houses.

That Mrs. Z. McAllister is a successful farmer there is no question. No individual exhibit of products of the garden was better and the vegetables were all raised under Mrs. McAllister's care, with the exception of filling the land. Her collection of onions, corn, squash, cauliflower, cabbage, cucumber, carrots, tomatoes, etc., was attractively dressed up with large sprays of feathery asparagus fern.

Over one of the largest and best exhibits in the hall was the crab apple sign, Crystal Lake Grange. Suspended over the display of vegetables and fruits were traces of corn and strings of red apples.

Further award of premiums: In the pulling match for oxen of any size the 1st premium was won by S. E. Eaton, Brownfield; 2d, E. L. Pike, South Waterford; 3d, W. B. Deacy, Denmark; 4th, 2 feet 2 inch class and under, 1st E. L. Pike; 2d, W. J. Perkins, Brownfield; 3d, W. B. Deacy; 6 feet 10 inch class and under, 1st, M. A. Seavey, Brownfield; 2d, W. B. Deacy; 3d, W. J. Perkins; 8 feet class, 1st, Albert E. Bean, Brownfield; 2d, G. B. Potter, Denmark; 3d, C. V. Hartford, Hiram; Three-year-old steer class, 1st Philip C. Dennett, Brownfield; 2d, G. B. Potter, Denmark; 3d, Clarence Walker, Brownfield.

In the pulling match for horses lively interest was taken by the large gathering of onlookers. In the class weighing 1100 pounds or under, C. C. Stevens of Bridgeton hit the drag a span weighing 2010 pounds, and they moved it 26 feet and 5 inches. The load weighed 4020 pounds. The next pair weighed 1870 pounds, and are owned by Elwood Pingree of Denmark. The load was made to weigh 3740 pounds—that is twice the weight of the horses. The pair pulled the drag 37 feet 7 inches.

Ned Fox of Lovell hit the drag a span weighing 1900 pounds, the load weighing 3920 pounds. They moved the drag 56 feet and 10 inches.

In the free-for-all, Ned Fox put off his span weighing 1900 pounds and moved the load weighing 3920 pounds, 73 feet. Elwood Pingree's span, weighing 1870 pounds, moved the drag weighted with 3740 pounds of stone, 29 feet, 4 inches. The span owned by C. C. Stevens of Bridgeton weighing 2010 pounds, pulled the 4040 pound load 36 feet and 6 inches.

In the drawing match for single horses there were three entries, two by Ned Fox of Lovell and one by C. C. Stevens of Bridgeton. Mr. Stevens' horse weighed 1010 pounds, and pulled the load weighing 2020 pounds, 67 feet, 7 inches.

Ned Fox hit the drag one after another, two horses each weighing 990 pounds. The first one pulled the drag weighted with 1900 pounds, 111 feet and 1 inch; the second horse pulled the same load 94 feet, 9 inches.

The Heart Can't Stand Rheumatic Acid Poisoning

To Free and Correct the Blood a Uric-O Treatment is Advised.

There is great danger in those sharp, shooting pains through the chest around the region of the heart. It means that poisonous uric acid and rheumatic acid are ready to spring and grip tightly the muscles controlling the heart's action. Don't neglect these warnings, they are the danger signals Nature flashes to you for help. You must neutralize and drive these dangerous poisons from the system, or sooner or later they will over-throw you.

The only true way to cure Rheumatism is to get at it from the inside with Uric-O. It acts with marvelous swiftness upon the muscles, kidneys and blood. Clears out the sand-like deposits in the muscles, forces the kidneys to perform those duties for which they were designed and neutralizes the acid within the blood.

Your physician will admit that this is the only true way to cure Rheumatism permanently, and should know that Uric-O is the remedy that will do it successfully and permanently. Uric-O is a liquid taken internally, 3 times daily and does not contain a drop of alcohol, opium or other dangerous poisons. It is good for Rheumatism in any form. Sciatica, Muscular, Inflammatory and Articular Rheumatism all yield readily to Uric-O. Noyes Drug Store is the home of Uric-O in Norway and if you call on them, they will tell you of many wonderful cures that Uric-O has made right here in your own town. They sell it for 75c and $1.00 the bottle or you can obtain a bottle free by writing to the makers of Uric-O, the Smith Drug Co., Syracuse, N. Y.

Patents to Maine Men.

That are of Interest to Dwellers Among Our Oxford Hills.
The records at the patent office in Washington show that nine-tenths of the patents secured by residents of Maine are filed by application to the commissioner in the months of March and April of every year, indicating that the men who make inventions do their heavy thinking and contriving in the long winter evenings when the houses are walled by snowdrifts and when no company comes in to divert the attention of the inventors into frivolous channels. For ingenuity of devices and seeming crankiness of design the residents of Maine stand near the head of the list.

In addition to novel and useful ideas and designs secured to the inventors of Maine by patents, there are scores of Maine men who have found out secret processes and various combinations which yield continuous incomes to those who have made the discoveries. Nearly 50 years ago, old Hiram Simpson, a stone-cutter and dreamer, moved from his home, near the quarries of Bluehill, in Hancock county, and took up a farm on the side of Mount Katahdin. In Prospect, Waldo county, making the journey of more than 20 miles by ox team and carrying his family and household goods in a hayrack.

As the weather was warm, he traveled by night, and while he was walking along the highway in Oxford about midnight, swinging his good stick and managing his oxen, he claimed that "an angel of the Lord" came down to him from the top of the hill beyond Todd's Pond, and imparted to his mind a secret for making red chalk of a kind that could be rubbed on a chalk line and then have the color transferred to the granite so plainly that the men who worked upon the stones could see and follow the mark with their steel chisels and points while hewing a sharp edge on the rock. White chalk was common and cheap, but as a white line chalked upon the light colored granite could not be seen by the workmen it was of no benefit to the stonecutters.

All attempts to manufacture a chalk holding red ochre or other ruddy ingredients had failed, the material coming off from the line every time it was snapped along the gritty rock. Simpson remembered what the angel had told him, and when he had collected slabs and driftwood enough from the river to build a shelter for his family he constructed a kiln from rude stones in the field, and digging blue clay from the brooks and mixing it with ochre and other ingredients, shaped the raw mud and rude squares and baked it until it was of a tallow consistency.

As soon as he had cooked enough to make a backlog, he put his chalk in a pack and walked away on a peddling tour among the stone quarries. At first the workmen laughed at him. They had been deceived in red chalk too many times to buy without questioning.

Simpson sold as much as he could, and when he found that men would not buy from him he left bars of chalk with them on trial. When he returned to the sheds a month later with a fresh supply every man wished to buy his chalk, and since then the red chalk made by the Simpson secret has been the favorite among all granite workers. Between 1870 and 1880, when the government was using Maine granite for the construction of public buildings, much money was made from the sale of the chalk, and when Simpson died he left his secret to James Holbrook, who has the monopoly of the business.

A wholesale house in Boston takes the whole output of the Prospect chalk factory, and is pushing the article to all parts of the world. Meantime, the secret which Simpson said he obtained from an angel in Oxford is as much a secret as it was half a century ago, and nothing the chemists can do is able to bring their any nearer to a solution of the mystery.

Another valuable secret connected with the cutting and shaping of granite, a secret which has afforded ample support to a family for more than a quarter of a century, is the method of preparing "bummica," invented by John A. Clark, a lame stonecutter of Rockland. "Bummica" is a combination of pitch and stone dust so heated and put together that when it is applied in a heated and plastic condition it will harden and endure for a longer or shorter time, and give the impression that it is genuine.

Until Clark made his discovery, all the "bummica" used by stonecutters in concealing their mistakes was from gum tragacanth and bitumen combined with stone dust. In case the stone which had been broken or nicked was of a light tint much stone dust was added, but if the hue was darker there was less dust and more gum in the composition.

At every workman was made responsible for the stone he was engaged upon, he found it cheaper to conceal the breaks in his labors by adding "bummica," to the faults than it would be to lose all his previous labors by taking up a new stone. The foreman of the crews kept close watch of the sheds, and as soon as they saw a tool carrier taking a hot iron among the men it was evident that some one had broken a stone and was trying to conceal the error with "bummica."

In the big Treasury building at Washington are a score of matted corners which were filled with "bummica" when the work was done, but which have since become ragged by exposure in the weather. The advantage of Clark's "bummica" was that it stayed. The cost of the material was greater and the labor of putting on the false corners required more time and greater skill, but when the preparation was once in place and hardened and scraped down and powdered with fine stone dust, it was there for a long time, and not even an expert stonecutter could tell the "bummica" from the solid stone unless he struck the rock with a heavy hammer or penetrated the surface with a drill. Many men have sought to purchase the secret of the durable cement from the Clark family, but thus far no one has succeeded. The sale of the article yields a revenue of about $5000 to the family holding the secret.

LYNCHVILLE.
Mr. and Mrs. Perley Adams visited at West Stoneham, Sunday.

A new just arrived, says a young lawyer for his wife, says the account in the World of Monday, will be set with a deep aqua marine and a ruby like tourmaline. The effect of this combination of coloring is very beautiful.

horse was well fed and taken good care of. Had owned horses since and they were well cared for. Charles Rowe of Lewiston was called to the stand. He was with Mr. Furbush when the trade was made and made about the same statement as was made by Furbush. Edward V. Estes, a Rumford Falls veterinary surgeon, had examined the horse and discovered that his age was fully 20 years or over, was not a sound horse. Mr. Dorr had known Howard since he was a boy and known the horse for the past 16 or 18 years. William W. Knowlton, farmer, of Mexico lives near Mr. Howard, has known him for many years. Horse was owned by Howard's father a short time, before that was owned by Eugene Burgess and later by Howard for 10 or 12 years. The horse was kept at his barn for several days and after getting loose and eating quite a quantity of meal did. Charles Dorr answered a few unimportant questions, then the defense took up the case.

Bert I. Howard, the defendant, told them after showing the horse that he didn't know how old his gray horse was. Cross examined Furbush was again called. Stated that Mr. Howard never stated that the horse might be 12 or 14 and might be older but that the horse was 14 and no older. Mr. Rowe also confirmed this statement.

After the opening of court, Wednesday afternoon the jury was sent out to consider this case and the case of Rumford National Bank against Ahmad Joseph and others with Gleason & Blanchard for plaintiff and Hon. John P. Swasey for defendant was taken up.

Ahmad Joseph took the stand. Been in business six years, was in Rumford two years and six months, came from Assyria. Paid the draft all in bills except seven or 10 cent pieces. Abram Joseph in company with his brother sells dry goods, went with his brother to pay the draft and saw him hand the money to Lane and Lane counted the money twice. The testimony being closed Hon. John P. Swasey proceeded to address the jury for the defense and delivered an eloquent and impressive address in behalf of the two young men. The address by the plaintiff's attorney took up some time and the matter was carefully gone over.

In the case of F. A. Furbush vs. B. I. Howard, the jury brought in verdict that the horse was not as represented and one cent damages were assessed.

Herbert L. Ames against Wm. Mann, an appealed case from Mexico, was the next case with N. G. Foster and John P. Swasey for plaintiff and James Stevenson for defense. Mr. Ames swapped horses with Mr. Mann. Mann came later and wanted to swap back. Horse that he swapped belonged to his brother and he must have the horse. An agreement was reached to swap back for $25. $10 was paid then and the remaining $15 was to be paid $5 a week for three weeks. Mr. Ames formerly kept a stable and has traded horses quite a little.

The issue was that the horse which the plaintiff let the defendant have was as good as the one which defendant had. William Mann of Rumford Falls testified that he drove a bakery team for his brother. He says that Ames said that the horse was as good as his and if it wasn't he would make it right. The horse he got had heaves and spavins. The horse he let Ames have was sound. Did not promise to pay the remaining $15 at any specified time, but would pay it as soon as he could.

The jury has not as yet rendered a verdict.

Court Temperance Meeting.

In keeping with the long established custom in Oxford county, the court temperance meeting was held on Wednesday evening. A good number of the lawyers and several of the pastors of the Norway and South Paris churches were present. The meeting was called to order by Charles E. Herriot, who called upon Hon. A. E. Herriot to preside. Prayer was offered by Rev. A. K. Baldwin of South Paris. Remarks were offered by Rev. H. A. Clifford of South Paris, who stated that the committee which was appointed to arrange these meetings had served their term and suggested that Judge Charles F. Whitman, Rev. A. K. Baldwin and Rev. S. G. Davis be appointed. Mr. Baldwin resigned in favor of Rev. J. W. Chesbro, who was elected.

In his address Hon. A. E. Herriot said that he was proud of the record of Oxford county and he believes that every citizen should be proud of it. More than 50 years the subject of temperance has been before the people of Maine. What we need is an old-fashioned revival on the temperance question. Mr.

Herrick was followed by interesting and enthusiastic addresses by Rev. S. G. Davis, Hon. James S. Wright, Judge Charles F. Whitman, Edwin E. Gleason, Esq., Hon. George D. Bisbee, Alton C. Wheeler, Randall Taylor and Rev. A. K. Baldwin. During the meeting Mr. Herrick was obliged to leave to take his train and called Hon. George D. Bisbee to the chair who presided during the remainder of the meeting.

Court Notes.

F. J. McCarthy of Rumford Falls, who has several cases at this term, was unable to be present at the opening of the court on account of the death of his mother.

Hon. George D. Bisbee of Rumford Falls has attended every term of Oxford county court since 1865.

C. O. Barrows of Portland is the court stenographer.

A petition is being circulated asking that William F. Jones, Esq., be appointed as the next judge of the Norway Municipal court. It is being quite generally signed.

There is getting to be so much business at this court it is thought that it will be necessary to ask the Legislature for another term of court.

In the case of Rumford National Bank vs. Ahmad Joseph verdict was brought in favor of the defense.

Gerry L. Brooks of Upton, a graduate Maine University, was admitted to the bar of Oxford county, Wednesday afternoon.

Francis Fox of Kezar Falls, who has been in attendance at the court, left for Boston, Thursday morning, where he has business.

CURE NERVE PAINS.

Remarkable Medical Discovery That is Sold Under Absolute Guarantee.

The fact that Neuralgic Anodyne is sold under an absolute guarantee to refund the money unless it cures neuralgia, nervous headache, rheumatism, and nerve pain, and is the strongest proof that it can be given as to its wonderful efficacy. No other remedy for neuralgia can do as much good as Neuralgic Anodyne. An ordinary remedy is either used internally or simply applied externally, while Neuralgic Anodyne is used in both ways. A little of the remedy is taken in sweetened water, while the affected parts are bathed freely. A large bottle costs but 25c and is sold by dealers everywhere with the understanding that the money will be refunded if it does not do all that is claimed for it. Letter to James Danforth.

Norway, Maine.
Dear Sir: Here's a tale with three or four tales to it.
Professor Irvine has an Academy, Mercesburg, Penn. He paints the floor in summer vacation. It used to take 90 gallons of paint. There were two paint stores there, and he used to buy (one year of one, next year of the other,) 90 gallons year after year.
Now he paints Devos; 60 gallons; and the difference is a saving of $150 a year.
H. C. Fallon was one of those dealers, good man; but he wouldn't take up Devos; so he returned to the other, J. A. Boyd. But Fallon has found it necessary to get a good paint to compete with Boyd. He got one of the eight honest paints. He has a big hardware store and is doing an excellent hardware business; but Boyd, of course, has the run on paint—he's a little hardware man.
We don't care how little or big a man is; if he wants good paint and is active and sound.
Yours truly,
F. W. Devos & Co.,
F. P. Stone, Norway, and W. S. Jackson & Son, West Paris, sell our paint.

Millinery Displays.
Friday and Saturday were millinery display days at Norway. It was a display of millinery with no outside decorations and if our advice had been asked we would have said just that way. Have the displays "Of millinery and for millinery." The hats this season were stylish, modest and more becoming to the wearer than many. The central hat, the one holding the place of honor in Mrs. R. L. Powers', Mrs. G. A. Allen's and Mrs. F. E. Drake's displays were each of them black. Don't think by this black is the only thing this season for colors are used in abundance, but they are mostly, outside of the brilliant plaids, of dark or softened shades—the Bordeaux, a rich dark wine; the taupe, a deep gray; brown, green, blue and white are all worn. The colors on one hat, however, do not war with each other. They are either the different shades of the same color, hat, velvet, ribbon, flowers, foliage, ornament, wings, feathers and all, or shades that harmonize and blend.
Mrs. G. A. Allen has for head trimmer this season Elizabeth Colley of Portland, assisted by Mrs. Maud Merrill and Maud Allen. They have seventy-five trimmed hats. The trimmed hats to which we refer are in every case made in the several shades and are not the ready-to-wear. Mrs. F. E. Drake is assisted by Mrs. Llewellyn Cushman and Mrs. L. P. Swett. They have seventy trimmed hats. Mrs. R. L. Powers has Mrs. V. W. Hills, Mrs. Ralph I. Trask and Carrie Amund. They have eighty-four trimmed hats.
The small hats this year are very small and the large ones very large. Among some of the new things are tall high crowns; the smoothly fitted hats; hats that turn up at the right side; the Scotch plaids; the untrimmed, or rather, hats that look as though they had been worn in a rain; vulture feathers; maroon feathers; rosettes with small buckles in the center; peacock feathers in the real brilliant colors; and those that have apparently been bleached to a cream shade; shirred velvet or ribbon to cover wire making a cord a quarter of an inch in diameter to be used in rounds and as headings; the fancy oval and pear shaped pins like hat pins stuck in every where for ornaments.
We notice a little Glenary bonnet in green, trimmed with a Scottish plaid, green wing and turn up on the side front in a real Scottish manner. A mushroom shaped hat in the rose shades, ribbon put on to form two feather shapes, three shaded roses and black jet buckles. A small, long, narrow boat shaped, black draped hat of mirror velvet and chenille band and three Impeyan wings. A hat of white mount velvet with green braids that went around higher up on the brim than the end going up to form a wing effect, faced with ecru lace, a green ribbon bow underneath the back. A three-cornered black felt, large blue wings, blue velvet coming from the front down through the back and forming the large bow on the roll of the back. A brown beaver plaque faced with shirred white velvet, trimmed with a real bird of paradise breast, vulture feathers, imported roses. A dark blue plush sailor, trimmed with dark blue velvet bow at side and underneath. A black hat that has one hundred and sixty tufts around the edge of the rim, three large feathers, maline, jet buckle. A rich Bordeaux colored velvet with three rounds of velvet cords on left side of rim with holes cut in center for ribbon to pass through, the drapery from front forming the trimming at the back. A black fitted silk hat, velvet edged, turned up at left side, rosette of velvet, large oxidized silver buckle ends in vulture feather, ribbon rosette with a number of ends underneath rim. A white felt hat with white velvet facing, black ribbon bows at back, long white feather, white ribbon shirred flower shaped rosette.

A white fur felt, slashed and laced with white ribbon, tied with little white bows, vulture plume, trimmed from right side, cut steel buckle, white ribbon and maline. A taupe felt with soft fancy green facing, one big green rose with foliage. A little dark green draped toque with light green grapes. A fitted wine velvet, two rows laced ribbon standing high around the crown, long sweeping coque feather, headed with two large wine roses, maline underneath. A pastel green ribbon shirred turban, two green gray breasts and pink roses. A castor velvet hat, shirred on cord, with lighter ribbon and feather. A navy blue draped turban, two blue and green breasts and two fancy gold pins. Castor hat, high on left side, two shaded feathers, large choux of velvet in front with two large oval pins same color. A black toque shape with fancy crown and band, rosette and folds of ribbon around rim, bird of paradise.
A tourquois blue plaque, trimmed with wings and flowers and out steel pin heads. A brown hat out and bent over the other side filled in with wings, ribbon and a large rose. Pretty little poke bonnets for children in shirred brown velvet, rosettes and ties with blue facings, and another one similarly made in red. A little continental hat, the rim one white with three pink rosettes and in his hat." A small fancy braided feather in green and red makes a pretty and young looking hat trimmed with blue and green.
The little boy has some cunning little caps in chinchilla and bear cloth and the babies' little bonnets and hoods are not forgotten.
There are few if any old ladies, so there are few if any bonnets. We saw one with the real old time ties and another a neat little affair without any ties. The "grams" of other day passed away and with them their bonnets.
The World's Fair.
Everybody goes to the World's Fair at Watford. Friday morning was foggy but with all signs of a good day and the people were out on the road early and came into Watford from all directions and before the day was over fully 800 people were taking in the fair. The clouds cleared away and the day was delightful. The forenoon was taken up by arranging the exhibits and the exhibition of work horses and cows. This exhibition was held in front of the Congregational church and although there was not a large number of horses shown the quality was there and those shown compared very favorably with those shown at any fair.
The Watford team was made up of two pairs belonging to George Stevens, L. E. McIntire 1 pair and Irving Green, L. E. McIntire 1 pair and Irving Green, L. E. McIntire 1 pair and Irving Green, L. E. McIntire 1 pair. Five made up the team from Norway, R. K. Morrill having 2 pair and L. E. Brown, V. R. Mills and Guy Curtis 1 pair each. Norway was awarded the blue ribbon and Watford the red.
Work horses were shown by L. E. McIntire, Irving Green, George Stevens, L. E. Brown, Guy Curtis and V. R. Mills. Prizes on these were awarded to L. E. Brown, 1st, $2; L. E. McIntire, $1; George Stevens 50 cents. The committee consisted of Ed. Hutchins, North Fryeburg, Chester Fernald of Albany and W. H. Abbott of Lovell.
Horses and Colts.
There was a good showing of horses and colts and they attracted much attention. In the driving class E. W. Bird of Albany had a 2-year old colt, broad mare and sucking colt, Amos L. Bean, 1-year old colt, broad mare and sucking colt; L. E. Shedd of North Watford, 3-year old colt and pretty black mare with sucking colt; Vernon Judkins, Albany, 1-year old colt; Earl McAllister, Albany, 1-year old colt; Dennis Adams, Watford, 1-year old colt; George Briggs of Albany had a pretty pair of dapple-grey 3-year old stallions, weighing 1100 and 1010; J. F. Green, Albany, 2-year old red stallion, weighing 1000 pounds; Bert Brown of Stoneham, mare with 3-months old colt, bred by Wilkes; D. B. Hall, Bethel, stallion. The committee, which was the same as for work horses and town teams, awarded prizes on these as follows: Best stallion of any age; D. B. Hall, $2; best brood mare, foal by side, E. K. Shedd, $2; Amos Bean, $1; Bert Brown, 50c.
One Year Old Colts.—Carl McAllister, $1; Dennis Adams, 50c; E. W. Bird, 25; 2-year old colts, Ed. Shedd, $1; E. K. Bird, 50c. G. W. Briggs was awarded 1st prize for best 3-year old for draft purposes; best sucking colt, E. K. Shedd, 50c; A. L. Bean, 40c. E. E. Bird, 20c.
Drawing.
Friday afternoon was seen some drawing of draft horses, as good and probably better than is often seen at any fair, large or small. In the 2400 pound class there were three entries. The lead pulled weighed 5500 pounds. R. K. Morrill with a pair weighing 2355 did some pretty work amid the shouts of the crowd and the flying dirt of a dry road and dust. The distance drawn was 193 feet, 2 inches down the road and back 31 feet, 2 inches, a total of 223 feet, 4 inches. D. B. Hall of Bethel with a pair weighing 2230 went 146 feet. V. R. Mills of Norway with a pair of 2350 horse got your frankforts, R. K. Morrill, 143 feet, 8 inches. Prize, R. K. Morrill, $8; D. B. Hall 1.50; V. R. Mills, 75c.
In the 2800 and under class there were only two entries. This time the lead weighed 6000. R. K. Morrill, with a

WHO SHE WAS

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused it to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old bucker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert and investigating mind, an earnest seeker after knowledge, and above all, a possessor of a wonderfully sympathetic nature.

In 1843 she married Isaac Pinkham, a builder and real estate operator, and their early married life was marked by prosperity and happiness. They had four children, three sons, and a daughter.

In those good old fashioned days it was common for mothers to make their own home medicines from roots and herbs, nature's own remedies, calling in a physician only in specially urgent cases. By tradition and experience many of them gained a wonderful knowledge of the curative properties of the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took a great interest in the study of roots and herbs, their characteristics and power over disease. She claimed that just as nature so bountifully provides in the harvest fields and orchards vegetable foods of all kinds; so, if we but take the pains to find them, in the roots and herbs of the field there are remedies everywhere designed to cure the various ills and weaknesses of the body, and it was her pleasure to search them out, and prepare simple and effective medicines for her own family and friends.

Chief of these was a rare combination of the choicest medicinal roots and herbs, which she had adapted for the cure of the ills and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex, and Lydia E. Pinkham's friends and neighbors learned that her compound relieved and cured them.

All this so far was done freely, without money and without price, as a labor of love.

But in 1873 the financial crisis struck Lynn. Its length and severity were too much for the large real estate interests of the Pinkham family, as this class of business suffered most from the fearful depression, so when the Centennial year dawned it found their property swept away. Some other source of income had to be found.

At this point Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made known to the world.

The three sons and the daughter, with their mother, combined forces to restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkhams sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1877, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until today Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words everywhere, and many a woman's roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of her work. She passed to her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman who applied to her for advice—and there were thousands—received careful study, and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands made since, are available to sick women in the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of woman's ills, which for its authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-earned knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work when its original passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, it up. With woman assistants, some as capable as herself, the present Mrs. Pinkham continues this great work, and probably have so many women benefitted how to regain health. Sick women, this advice is "Yours for Health" freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.

The merry-go-round of Guptill & McKean of Bethel.
G. S. Boutelle of West Paris sold perfumes, jewelry and cases, also pretty silk ribbon roses.
Samuel D. Leard of Bridgton sold soft drinks and frankforts.
William LaBean, better known as Fakir Bill, sold pens and novelties from a small stand.

2320 pair, hitched on and after informing the people not to be disappointed if the load didn't move, started his team and covered 119 feet, 4 inches. Roscoe Marston of Paris Hill put on a pair that weighed 2650 and covered 36 feet. R. K. Morrill, $3; Roscoe Marston, 1.50.
There were also two entries in the 2800 and over class, and this time the lead weighed 6400 and settled into the dust and sand as though determined to remain there, but when George Proctor had had his 2800 pair hitched on for five old colts and minutes it was down the road 97 feet and 4 inches. E. K. Bird of North Norwalk, Norway, with a 3000 pound pair went nearly as far, 86 feet, 8 inches. George Proctor, $3; Guy L. Curtis, 1.50.
This completed Friday's drawing program and everyone interested had seen an exhibition that was most satisfactory.

Saturday there was drawing of horses in a special class which was gotten up for the entertainment of the people, and to give those who were not at the fair Friday a chance to see some pulling by the horses. Six dollars was raised as a premium among those who were interested and divided into three premiums. The load was not weighed but estimated to weigh about 4500 pounds, neither was the distance drawn measured but the premiums were awarded by the committee to the team which the fair opinion did the best work. R. K. Morrill pulled both pairs of his horses and won the 1st and 2d prizes. Christopher Stevens of Bridgton hitched his pair on and won the 3rd. These were all the teams entered in the class.

Down the Midway.
Fakirs were plenty. Late Thursday afternoon, all night long and well into Friday forenoon they were arriving, a large number of them coming from the always expect to see a goodly number of them and to hear their cries of "Cool drinks on the inside," "Here's where you get your frankforts," etc. As one of them told us "We go a good way towards making a fair."

W. J. Kerrigan assisted by Harold Littlefield, or better known as the fruit peddlers of Portland, well known to the fair as attending public, sold Arizona coconuts, frankforts and soft drinks.
Twitcheil Bros., the bustling Norway fruit dealers, did a good business from their wagon.
